

Guitar Slide

Abstract

A Slide for musical stringed instruments which includes a globular shaped body made of a material, such as glass, brass, or metal, designed to illicit specific sounds when placed in contact with a string of a musical instrument, a finger ring, and a means to connect the finger ring to the globular shaped body, such means allowing the finger to bend normally. A second embodiment has a tapered cylindrical form for the body.